Greetings!

From your TNA News Editor,
Ron Kersey

Happy New Year!

With all the mountains of snow in parts of the country, it makes me glad I live in Texas! And, of course, a great state for enthusiastic collectors of coins, currency and all sorts of Exonomia. We have plenty of shows to attend all over the state with TNA clubs providing several of these educational opportunities in addition to procuring that special item.

Our Board of Directors conducted their semi-annual meeting led by our new President, Richard Laster. Drawings were held for the ANA Summer Seminar and Library Grant Programs. Check pages 6-7 for names of the lucky winners and how you too can put your name in the hat for future educational grants.

In preparation for our upcoming TNA Convention the first weekend in June, our Exhibit Cochairs, Gary and Judy Dobbins, have information you can use on page 10. Do you know a young numismatist who would like to experience being a coin dealer at the TNA Coin Show in June? See page 8 where Jack Gilbert will show you how. And Doug Davis has several items from NCIC that contain important information for our members.

We have several fine articles this issue. Authentication using Specific Gravity testing is explained by Lane Brunner on pages 16-17. A great example of young numismatists in action is presented by Youth Chair, Ralph Ross, on page 12-13. We even have articles on coins don't you know!

In July 2006 I had the pleasure of becoming editor of the TNA News. This has been a most rewarding experience for me. I have made many friends along the way and have been fortunate in being exposed to so many facets of the numismatic hobby. In preparing each issue the members of TNA have outdone themselves in providing outstanding articles for our readership. Our publication has received national recognition because of the support of our TNA membership. Thank you very much for this. The year 2018 will be my last as editor. During the year we will find a qualified person to take over as editor of the TNA News and I will be offering any assistance needed to make this a smooth transition.

In the meantime all of us are going to continue producing this fine publication. Oh, yeah - it's time to get this issue to the printer!

From the President

Friends . . . Your president has just returned from a couple of days down Houston way. To be exact I didn't make it as far as Houston per se but traveled to a destination not far north, in fast paced Conroe. The purpose of my journey was multi-fold. First, I have had in my possession since last October one hundred flood buckets, also known as cleaning buckets. These are five gallon buckets, with lids, which are crammed full of cleaning supplies to be given to those in need of serious tools for cleaning following an event such as the recent hurricane on the Gulf Coast. There is a first responder distribution center in Conroe which houses, on the ready, several thousands of these much needed kits for getting a head start on cleanup.

My second event, my first on the Texas Numismatic schedule, was the semi annual meeting of the Association's board. It was my privilege to "chair" this event for the first time. As I stated before, I thank Debbie Williams for her wonderful leadership in years past. On Friday, January 19, approximately twenty members of the TNA Board were in attendance. We covered a sizable amount of business with one of the biggest processes involving a serious discussion about one aspect of our future, which you'll hear about later.

The third reason for leaving my comfort zone in small town Texas, and heading to more seriously populated and complicated territory, was because the meeting mentioned just above was held in conjunction with the Greater Houston Coin Club's Money Show.

I came away from the Conroe experience excited about our hobby. Your directors are wonderful folk with great ideas and commitment to the TNA in specific and to the numismatic arts in general. Attendance at the Greater Houston Coin Club show, and at a majority of the coin shows I attend, seems to be on the increase. People who attend our shows run the gamut from those who are seasoned, long time collector enthusiasts, to those who are fresh off the street novices, and a fine showing of young numismatists (YNs). Your president had a variety of interesting conversations, many of which affirmed my thought that there is more to being a collector than simply collecting coins, (or whatever your numismatic passion might be). I am thinking at the least education, insight, and friendships.

My thought here is how great it is for people to gather with a common goal, to be in fellowship with like-minded folk. A good goal is for we, who are members and friends of the Texas Numismatic Association, to be facilitators of such communication when we are proactive in offering the invitation to someone to explore TNA and to invest time in investigating what we, as an association, have to offer. I am thinking ways in which this can happen might be through personal "come join me" discussion or at local club meetings, perhaps supplying an invitation over lunch offered by the governor or by a TNA member in a given club where a few thoughts about the association are interjected along with the opportunity to explore and even join.

And another related thought here: your president and second vice president both offer ourselves as speakers for club meetings or other events. Such a presentation is a good way to hear what the association has as goals and projects. Contact information for me is on the officer page near the back of this wonderful magazine. Also look for second vice president John Adling's contact data in the same place. I can also see to arranging for a guest speaker if neither John nor I is available, or if there is someone else you'd prefer to hear from.

And one more thing . . . The TNA News has had the joy, going on 13 years, of having Ron Kersey at the wheel of editorship. Ron and I spoke just last week and he has decided that it is time to hang up the golden computer keyboard. Your president admits to being sad to see my friend Ron move forward. Ron has selflessly offered his time and talent in preparing the absolute best newsletter in the nation. (If you don't believe me, just check out our number one award from the ANA not long ago.) The time of Ron's official retirement is still several months off. He promised to stay as editor until the end of this calendar year or until someone prior to that time is chosen to follow in the good work Ron has pioneered. In the mean time, please be giving some thought to anyone you know who might be a worthy contact. Again, my contact information is on the page near the end of the TNA News. I look forward to hearing from you regarding a new editor for the TNA News, and for anything else on your mind.

Regards and God Bless. See you when time allows . . . Richard

To promote and advance interest and comprehensive knowledge of numismatics; to cultivate friendly relations among fellow collectors; to hold periodic meetings and exhibits; to provide a place and time to buy, sell and trade numismatic items; to serve its members collectively, not individually.

Insofar as possible, this media will keep you informed about your association, and the individual and chapter members. It carries timely articles and features. Its pages are free to all members to express their views and to contribute articles for the advancement of numismatics. Those seeking information may ask for help through the pages of the TNA News. Those having items for sale or trade may advertise for a nominal sum. The TNA News is the voice of the TNA.

CONVENTIONS

The TNA will meet in an annual convention. Members are entitled to a voice at the conventions. The business sessions are devoted to the procedures necessary to the operation of your state association. Entertainment and time for renewal of friendships is an important part of the conventions. Educational exhibits are a vital adjunct. The opportunity to buy, sell and trade is provided through bourse activity.

MEMBERSHIP

YOUNG NUMISMATISTS (YN) DEALERS INVITED TO FREE TABLE

JACK GILBERT

Once again the TNA is inviting all YN Dealers to sell their wares at a free table at the upcoming TNA Show and Convention the first weekend of June 2018. Any YN who meets the qualification below and is interested should review the Policy and sign-up information below.

YOUNG NUMISMATISTS (YN) DEALER POLICY AND SIGN-UP FORM

This statement enumerates the guidelines for participation in the YN Dealer Initiative for the Texas Numismatic Association. The purpose of this initiative is to entice YNs to sign-up for a table on Saturday June 2, 2018 at the 2018 TNA Show and Convention and bring inventory to sell to the general public. The tables will be provided to the YN at no cost.

Interested YNs must be at least 12 years old and not over 21 years old as of May 1, 2018. Parents of YNs under the age of 18 must provide an email or letter signifying the parent's approval for the YN to participate. The YN, or a close relative (parent/grandparent), must be a current TNA member

It is expected that the inventory of the YN will be limited to items with a value of $100 or less. The YN should accumulate inventory to display at the show during the upcoming months. This inventory is expected to be displayed in one (1) case which will be provided by the TNA. Additional inventory may be brought to the show, but each YN will be allowed a four (4) foot space on the table to display and sell their inventory.

Table space for the YN Initiative may be limited and not all interested YNs may be accepted. Priority will be assigned based on a "first come" basis.

There will be adult TNA members to assist and supervise the YNs at all times in an effort to ensure that purchases or sales are not disadvantageous to the YN and to advise the YN if necessary. The TNA assumes NO LIABILITY for the purchases or sales of the YN, but attending adult members will use their best efforts to provide good advice to the YN.

Interested YNs should indicate their interest in participating by notifying Jack Gilbert no later than May 15, 2018. Emails may be sent to gilbej@yahoo.com; and must include the information requested below.

CLASSIC LARGE CENTS

The large, copper cents issued by the Mint during the nation's formative years underwent frequent changes in design, with four major changes in the Mint's first three years. The fourth design was introduced in 1796, but its run only lasted 10 years

US coins being issued at that time all bore designs by the Mint's chief engraver, Robert Scot: The silver and minor coins carried Draped Bust portraits of Miss Liberty, while Capped Bust likenesses appeared on the gold coins. However new Mint Director Patterson clearly didn't care for these designs, and consequently commissioned new designs for all coinage in 1807.

He first felt he needed to remove Scot, citing Scot's "advancing age" (62) made his "good health" doubtful. On that basis, he hired John Reich, a young engraver, to serve as Scot's assistant and redesign the coinage. Reich had recently come to the United States from his native Germany as an indentured servant to escape the Napoleonic Wars.

Reich revamped every coin from the half cent through the half eagle, the lowest and highest denominations then being produced. His obverse design for the cent (and half cent) was a left-facing portrait of Liberty with curly hair, tied with a headband inscribed LIBERTY. Miss Liberty is surrounded by 13 stars, with the date below her. The coin's reverse carries the statement of value, ONE CENT, within a continuous wreath. This, in turn, is encircled by the inscription UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

Production of the new design began in 1808, with just over one million pieces struck. However, the Mint ran out of planchets the following year, and production suffered since the Mint had to rely on local supply of planchets. A new shipment of planchets arrived in 1810 from the British firm of Boulton and Watt, and production rebounded. The Mint exhausted its supply early in 1811 and production once again fell off.

This production roller coaster ride continued with the advent of war with Britain in 1812. Production was normal in 1812, but dropped appreciably in 1813 and 1814. With the British embargo on American trading, the supply came to a halt, and planchets had to be obtained elsewhere. American companies were eager to produce the planchets, but the supply was limited and overall quality low. Most of the cents dated 1814 were struck on whatever leftover planchets could be found, which had already been stored at the Mint for several years. Because of this, cents of 1813 and 1814 tend to be darker and of lesser quality than those of earlier years.

No cents were struck in 1815, as no planchets were on hand, and it took a long time until new planchets could arrive from England. The trading embargo was lifted shortly after the War ended, but it would not be until the end of 1816 that production of cents was resumed, albeit with a different design.

Classic Head cents are relatively scarce in every collectible grade, but exceptionally so in mint condition. This is partly due to the unusual softness of the inferior quality planchets.

TNA EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS 2018

LEARN, SHARE, INSPIRE

Do you have a favorite coin? Are you interested in learning more about a certain coin or numismatic area? Have you wondered about money as it relates to history? Whether you are an experienced numismatist or a novice at a new hobby, creating an educational exhibit is a wonderful way to learn more about your coins or paper money.

The first step to making an exhibit is deciding on a topic. After choosing your topic, do the research. Learn all that you can about the numismatic item or series. You will need basic numismatic information (mint, mintage, composition, designer, etc.) along with historic, geographic, biographic and economic information.

When you have done the research, decide how you are going to share your findings with others. The exhibit should be neat, well-designed and eye catching. For your convenience and peace of mind, TNA provides lockable exhibit cases which are uniform in appearance.

Many think of Numismatics as a hobby for "old folks". We have seen a recent surge toward getting the next generation interested and involved in Numismatics. This will help answer that age related question: "Who will continue with my collection?" When you create an educational exhibit, not only are you sharing your research and love for the hobby, you are inspiring the next generation of Numismatists to learn and get involved.

So if you want to learn more about a numismatic area, share a favorite coin or money topic by revealing its history, and inspire others in numismatics, the TNA Educational Exhibits are for you.

Co-Chairs Gary and Judy Dobbins will be happy to answer questions or help you get started in the Exhibit Process. Exhibits can be entered in Competitive or Non- Competitive categories. Exhibit applications, rules and judging guidelines can be found on the TNA website.

Club member Rachel Gonzales review photos of numismatic educational exhibits from years past.

This was an educational exhibit titled, “THAILAND: Old Porcelain Coins. It was put together to provide a learning sample of what to do and not to do for an excellent numismatic educational exhibit.

Club member, Marcus Risen, and Dr. Ross greet parents and students at school open house. The Spartans Coin Club set up a numismatic educational exhibit and gave visitors wooden tokens and pencils. The Spartans Coin Club is a member of the ANA and TNA.

QUESTIONS FOR DR. COYNE

- 1) What U.S. coin was the first to be made at a branch mint (not Philadelphia)?
- 2) When did the American Numismatic Association begin operation?
- 3) What is the connection of Mr. Eric Newman to numismatics?
- 4) Which U.S. president is on the $1000 bill?

1) The "O" mint mark was first used on the dimes of New Orleans in May, 1838. More famous among collectors today is the tiny issue of half dollars (perhaps 20 coins, and not even all of them actually coined in New Orleans). This was followed by a substantial issue of 1839-0. The Branch Mints (gold only) at Dahlonega and Charlotte began production in 1838, but not until after the initial coinage at New Orleans.

2) The American Numismatic Association was proposed by Dr. George Heath in 1891 and began accepting members in 1892. Until the headquarters building at 818 N. Cascade Avenue in Colorado Springs opened in 1967, the ANA lived mainly in the briefcase of the secretary, wherever he lived.

3) Mr. Eric P. Newman of St. Louis was, until his death last month at the age of 106, arguably the most important non-professional numismatist of our time. He was an accomplished numismatic researcher, author, and helpful consultant with specialties in the areas of Colonial coins and paper money and products of the U.S. Mint. A successful lawyer with a manufacturing company for most of his long career, his primary collection has been auctioned for a total of $55 million in recent years. His greatest legacy will perhaps prove to be the establishment of the Newman Numismatic Portal to provide internet access to a huge array of periodicals, price lists, auction catalogs, and standard reference works in every specialty imaginable. Millions of pages have been scanned and are online and ready for key-word searching by everybody.

- 5) What is a "jetton"?
- 6) According to the Red Book, what U.S. coin of the 1876-1976 period has the lowest original mintage?
- 7) Is this piece a U.S. coin? _____

4) Grover Cleveland, 22nd and 24th U.S. president, is shown on the $1000 Federal Reserve Notes. These are all collector items now; none has been printed since 1945.

5) A Jetton is a small round (or sometimes octagonal) medal. Though they are not coins, in the European middle ages and onward they were used by merchants as counters on a board to compute sums. Later, they were often used as a game counter or entry ticket or pass. They can be dated (or not), and almost always feature a single design device and are usually struck on coinage presses. The Paris mint has issued many designs; the French term is spelled "jeton".

6) The Red Book identifies the smallest original mintage of a coin designed for circulation as the 24 pieces reported in the San Francisco mint report for the dimes of 1894. Today, collectors are aware of about a dozen distinct specimens, with most showing some wear.

7) The illustrated piece is not a U.S. coin. It certainly purports to be an 1889 Morgan Dollar, but it's in fact a recently produced silver round. If purchased at prices close to melt value, these can be an acceptable silver investment, but close inspection reveals they are not exactly the same design as the original Morgan Dollar. Look, for example, at the wrong font in the date "1889". The reverse of the piece is shown here.

8) What U.S. mint mark has been used on the most coins (measured by production)? Which the least?

9) When was the right to hold gold restored to the American public?

10) When were the first coins struck in the New World?

11) Did any Federal paper money circulate in U.S. before 1861?

12) Do Third Party Grading Companies encapsulate Daniel Carr material?

13) What is a "One-Sided Proof" coin?

14) Is this piece a U.S. coin? _____

RESPONDS

8) The mintmark representing the most cumulative production would be the "D" of Denver. With trillion coin annual coinage totals at Denver, it does not take long to swamp the longer experience of San Francisco. The gold-only Southern mints at Dahlonega (also using the "D") and Charlotte have the lowest total production. The "O" and "CC" mints had intermediate cumulative totals by striking a variety of both silver and gold coins. The "M" and "S", mints also have intermediate totals despite striking bronze coins to help push up their totals. The West Point Mint has used "W" on a range of collector coins, but its large issues of cents for circulation carried no minmark and cannot be distinguished from Philadelphia issues.

9) The gold regulations under Franklin Roosevelt took effect in April, 1933. Americans had unrestricted rights to hold gold and gold instruments again beginning Dec. 31, 1974. In the interim, coins of numismatic interest (and not primarily bullion) were exempt. It took complicated paperwork to import new world gold coins after 1933 until 1975 as well.

10) The earliest coins struck in the New World came from the Mexico City mint, beginning 1536 -- more than two centuries before any coins were made at the infant mint in Philadelphia. The earliest coins struck FOR USE in the New World would seem to be the "hogge" pennies, privately made in England about 1616 for use in the islands that became The Bahamas.

11) The first Federal paper money used to finance the Civil War came in 1861, and before that there had been decades of issues of state and local banks. But the earliest Federal paper money was the discredited Continental Currency issued to fight the Revolutionary War in 1776. These issues are highly collectible today, with Eric Newman's "The Early Paper Money of the U.S." the primary reference -- now in its 5th edition.

12) The Third Party Grading companies have each taken their own path in handling Moonlight Mint material. ANACS has the longest record and has slabbed the most pieces. They will handle all of Mr. Carr's material which will fit in their slab. NGC has taken an intermediate position and will handle much of his material as "medals". PCGS has been the most restrictive and to date has refused any of his "overstrike" fantasy "coins" as well as any of the club medals or other contract work. PCGS claims to be guided in deciding what to handle according to whether an item is listed or not in Krause's "Unusual World Coins" book, though there are exceptions.

13) The term "one-sided proof" is a misnomer. "Proof" is a method of manufacture and not a "grade" denoting degree of preservation or absence of handling. The term has been carelessly applied (mainly decades ago) to describe a coin showing good mirror fields on only one side with "business strike" quality on the other side. Actually, most of these are just well preserved ordinary business strikes, but with one die a new replacement or recently polished die.

14) The illustrated piece is arguably the first U.S. coin. Evidence shows it was struck in the year on its face (1776) or near that time. But no specific evidence has been found in Congressional records about its approval or issuance. Some say it is only an English medal of about 1780, but the existence of many pieces in worn condition argues for its use in actual circulation during the Confederation period in the former Colonies. It is usually collected with the American Colonial series. They come in pewter, brass, and a few are known in silver.

GRADING FOR Using Specific Gravity

Inherent in grading coins is the fundamental understanding that the coin is deemed authentic before it is graded. If the coin has been altered or is a counterfeit, then its grade is not really relevant. However, if we rush to grade a coin without considering authenticity first, we may overlook some very well made counterfeit coins that have been entering the marketplace over the last several years. In addition to the appropriate diagnostics for the coin type, there is an easy test that can be done to test a coin's composition. The test compares the density of a coin relative to the density of a standard substance, namely water.

The test measures the specific gravity of the coin. The specific gravity (SG) is the ratio of density of the test coin to the density of water. Pure metals and alloys have known values for SG and thus the SG of a coin can be compared with the known values to determine whether or not the composition is correct.

Here's how the test is done: You will need a good quality scale, which can measure weight to a tenth or hundredth of a gram, cup in to hold water, and a way to suspend the coin in the water so that nothing touches the cup or balance. See the image below.

The SG apparatus above consists of a scale, a plastic container filled with water, a scaffold to suspend the coin, and a piece of plastic-coated wire bent to suspend the coin in the water without touching the sides or bottom of the beaker.

STEPS TO MEASURE SPECIFIC GRAVITY

- Step 1: Weigh the coin on the balance. Record the weight as the "dry weight."
- Step 2: Fill the container with water so that the coin can be fully submerged when suspended.
- Step 3: Place the water-filled container on the balance.
- Step 4: Without the coin in the suspending wire, place the wire attached to the scaffold into the water.
- Step 5: Zero the balance with the suspending wire in place. This way, when the coin is placed into the suspending wire, the only difference will be the weight of the coin in the water.
- Step 6: Carefully place the coin in the suspending wire and lower into the water. Be sure not to spill any water.
- Step 7: Record the weight of the suspended coin. Record the weight at the "wet weight."
- Step 8: Divide the "dry weight" by the "wet weight" and record the value. This value is the SG.
- Step 9: Look up the SG value of your coin in a table of known SG values for the composition of the coin you are testing.

I recently purchased some silver rounds on eBay and one of rounds just didn't seem authentic. Below is an image of both rounds. The Buffalo round was a new production silver round in the very popular design of the Buffalo nickel. The other silver round is a classic Silver Trade Unit struck in 1981.

THE REST OF US

Testing for Authentication

Pictured are two silver rounds recently purchased on eBay. One is authentic and one is counterfeit. Although the weight of the counterfeit round was well below 31.1 grams (the weight of an authentic silver 1 oz round), the SG made it fairly clear it was plated with silver.

SG testing was done on both pieces. It was clear the Buffalo round was not pure silver just based on its "dry weight" alone. However, the SG testing gave some insight into what its composition might be. Below is a table with the results of the SG testing.

SG TESTING RESULTS FOR TWO SILVER 1 OZ ROUNDS

	Buffalo	Silver Trade Unit
Dry Weight	24.515 g	31.133 g
Wet Weight	3.393 g	2.962 g
SG	7.23	10.51

The SG for the Silver Trade Unit was very close to the known SG value for pure silver. The SG for the Buffalo round was well below the SG for silver and closer to that for bronze. The seller was contacted and the Buffalo round was returned. Interestingly, the Buffalo round was housed in a thick plastic capsule that helped mask its light weight.

Be sure to test those questionable silver rounds and bars. There has been a recent influx of fake 10 oz Engelhard poured bars that are rumored to be available on eBay. Authentic Engelhard poured bars are highly sought after which makes them an easy target for silver bullion counterfeiters.

The next table lists the SG for many materials relevant to coinage (and detecting counterfeit coins).

TABLE OF SELECTED SG VALUES

Material	Specific Gravity
Copper	8.96
Bronze (~14% tin)	7.4
Gold	19.32

IS A SEATED LIBERTY

It has been noted many times that the Seated Liberty design, the artwork of Mr. Christian Gobrecht, is the design that has graced the largest number of denominations in United States coinage. First unveiled in the late 1830's, by the year 1840 it was on every silver coin from the tiny half dime all the way up to the hefty silver dollar. And for two years, it circulated on the short-lived 20-cent pieces (with a further two years in proof version).

THE HALF-DIME

It's a fair bet that there are not all that many half-dime collectors within the numismatic fraternity. Yet there are some, and they are probably quite aware that among the long run of Seated Liberty half-dimes are quite a few that are very common. But curiously, since there are so few collectors of this small but attractive series, the best way to look through them may not be in terms of mintages, and may be much more just in terms of looking through price lists. For example, the 1853 has an enormous mintage of over 13 million, and costs about $200 in the lower mint state grades. The 1873-S though, one of two issues of the last year of the series, saw a much lower mintage, yet has a slightly lower price tag in the mint state grades. That makes it something of a bargain.

THE DIME

Moving up to the ten-cent pieces, there are plenty of common dates, and even a couple of common mint marks, within this Seated Liberty series. Once again, for examples in the lower end of mint state, a person can part with about $200 and land a handsome looking coin. What might be considered amazing here however is how quickly the prices drop if we are willing to collect at the AU-50 or even the EF-40 grade. Now the prices plummet to a $40 - $50 range, which certainly can be attractive in and of itself.

THAT TWENTY-CENT PIECE

The short-lived twenty-cent pieces might be a tough set to assemble, since two of the four years of issue – 1877 and 1878 – were made only as proofs. For a type set though, the sole piece that can be considered common is the 1875-S, since it had a mintage of just over a million coins. Today the price tags we have mentioned, above, will net one in a grade like VF-20 or EF-40. As expected, the prices take a steep uptick when we look at those still in mint state.

THE QUARTER

One can debate whether the Seated Liberty quarter has more common dates in the series than the dimes or half dimes, but in each case there are a lot from which to choose. As we might imagine, the prices tend to be a bit higher in this series, simply because they are bigger coins. As we might not imagine, there are a couple of treats in the series among the issues from the branch Mint at Carson City.

Many collectors are aware that the 'CC' mint mark was used on larger silver denominations, as well as gold denominations, rather exclusively. What fewer of us are aware of is that for a couple of years the Carson City output was rather hefty, and must have been the common silver coin of the day. For Seated Liberty quarters, the years 1876 and 1877 were those big years, with 4.9 million and 4.1 million 'CC' quarters produced respectively.

TYPE SET AFFORDABLE?

What that translates to for us today is something like a $125 - $200 purchase for a specimen in VF-20 or EF-40. The continued collector love affair with Carson City coins keeps the mint state examples considerably more expensive.

THE HALF DOLLAR

Adding a Seated Liberty half dollar and dollar to any growing type set might be the big jump up to big prices; but let's look at both of these good-sized silver pieces, just to be sure. In the case of the fifty-cent pieces, we have a series that saw extremes when it comes to highs and lows. There are plenty of years when the official Mint tallies were well into the millions. But there were also some years when the totals were down below ten thousand coins. That would make this a tough series to collect by date and mint mark. But when we are looking for just one piece, well, the hunt shouldn't be too tough.

A look through just about any major price listing reveals that the Seated Liberty half dollars have mint state coins which cost about $450 - $500, and VF-20 pieces that ring in at less than $100 each. Following our just-traced path once again, and focusing on the 'CC' coins, we find that the 1875-CC, as well as the 1876-CC and 1877-CC half dollars can be considered common. They do cost just over $1K for a mint state piece, but down at something like VF-20 have a price tag that is much easier to swallow. Once again, these branch Mint coins might be worth looking at.

THE SILVER DOLLAR

Silver dollar aficionados know that the entire Seated Liberty dollar series, from 1840 - 1873, has only two coins that saw a seven-figure mintage. They are the 1871 and 1872. The series was just never produced in large numbers. Even the two common dates are expensive coins today. It will cost just under $1K to grab one of these, even in F-12 condition. These big guns are not impossible to add to a type set, but they're tough.

THE $10 GOLD PIECE OF 2008

Mr. Gobrecht's design was dusted off and used one final time, in 2008, as part of the Presidential Dollars First Spouse issues. Since Martin Van Buren did not have a First Lady during the time he had the big job and the big office, when he was honored with a dollar coin in 2008, the Seated Liberty design was used for the ½-ounce gold coin that went with his dollar. Prices for one today, in PF-69, start at about $1,250. One of these might make a brilliant addition to any Seated Liberty collection.

All things considered, a Seated Liberty type set really only gets expensive if we insist on adding a good looking version of the silver dollar, and any version of the modern $10 gold piece that is part of the First Spouse program. The five smaller denominations all have some possibilities that don't flatten a wallet thinner than the proverbial pancake. Seated Liberty coinage saw its heyday as the nation was growing and modernizing rapidly. For a collector new to the field today, such a type set of silver could prove to be the start of a fascinating collection.

by John Barber

The excellent presentation “Engraving Longacre” given by Jim Sandy at our November GHCC meeting prompted me to look again at the history of our early Indian cents...

The small cent’s first design was the Flying Eagle attributed to Christian Gobrecht and used on his famous dollars of 1836-1839, but the reverse of that cent is a Longacre “agricultural wreath”. These, like all the cents made for circulation through until mid-1864 were made from an alloy of 88% copper and 12% nickel, accounting for their white color.

The mint found it difficult to strike the 88/12 alloy as the pressure needed to fully raise the design on the coins resulted in unacceptably short die life. Proposals for a different design which might prove easier to strike began shortly after introduction of the Flying Eagle cent. Longacre’s favorite

Designs similar to the 1858 shown above were adopted in 1859 (still 88/12 alloy, and with a no-shield reverse). This one is the regular issue for 1859, and has usually been regarded as a one-year type coin.

INDIAN CENTS

But 1859 also brought us two additional designs for the reverse – the “wide shield” (also called “ornamental shield” and the “narrow shield”. It was the acquisition a couple of years ago of this “wide shield” Judd 227 that was the subject of an earlier editorial in these pages, “My Blundered Acquisition”.

It is the “narrow shield” Judd 228 that should have been the object of my search. This is the design that is the direct predecessor to the regular 1860-1863 issues, all having the narrow shield. It was in October 2013 that Q. David Bowers’ article appeared arguing that this issue should be called a “regular issue” and collected along with the rest of the Indian cent series.

It is true that the mintage of over 1000 pieces is too large for a strictly pattern issue, and the overwhelming majority of them are in business-strike format and not proofs. This one matches that description.

The rest of the “nicks” (the 88/12 alloy cents) are all of the same design, though the shape of the point of the bust varies on the 1860 issues. The 1863 coins were made in the largest numbers and are today the most available.

Finally, in mid-1864, the final change was made to the early Indian Cents: the bronze alloy was introduced on these and the two-cent pieces. These are 95% copper and 5% tin and zinc. Following a minor change in feather alignment in 1886, this design reigned until the end of the Indian Cent series in 1909. They have now perhaps been displaced by Morgan Dollars as the most popular series to collect, but before 1970, they were right up there with Lincoln Cents in the aspirations of many, many collectors.

Indian Cents are fun; and collecting them won't break the bank!

COL Steven Ellsworth, ret.

THE BEST SECURED

Brentwood, Tennessee - Colonel Steven Ellsworth, ret. of the Butternut Company has announced the annual selection of "The Best Secured Coin Shows for year 2017." COL Ellsworth personally attended over 36 coin shows and conventions in 2017, closely observing and evaluating the various types of security measures provided to both dealers and the public. In addition, he receives numerous reports from across the nation from coin dealers, collectors and crime-incident reports from the media and law enforcement sources. This is the 20th year a report with show-listings has been named.

"For the past 20 years, I've had the privilege of helping new- as well as experienced dealers by writing articles regarding security. I am also a principal instructor on how to build a solid, successful business and teach sound security protection-measures during the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) Summer Seminars in Colorado Springs. By all accounts, these educational sessions have been rewarding for the students as well as from the physic income I garner from the students and the other attendees," said Ellsworth.

He went on to describe some of his instructional techniques in which he requires students to create a basic balance sheet for the fictitious ABC Coin Company. When students list the assets of a typical coin business, by far, the single most valuable asset of the company's is the inventory of coins, noting that most students do not own a stationary store-front. If all- or most of a company's inventory is lost, the survival of the coin business will be questionable. If this basic financial reality is correct, then why not implement as many security strategies and measures possible to minimize such risks? The answer is usually the same; "This is the way we have always done it and have not had a problem yet". With that logic, why not cancel your home liability, fire and flood insurance since you have not had a claim since you owned your home? In today's social and economic environment, whatever you can do to improve your own- as well as your family's security- is never enough.

This year there have been over 115 coin and currency crimes reported during 2017. Violent crimes have decreased but there has been an increase in robberies and thefts that in all likelihood will continue through 2018. The coin business creates very lucrative target for criminals, especially since many of our hobby's gathering sites are well-advertised.

"Over the years, I continued to address and emphasize two very important items to help manage the risks associated with valuables:

1ST: DEVELOP A WRITTEN SECURITY PLAN.

The casual disregard in the need to draft a written security plan, by the majority of dealers and collectors, is still a major security lapse facing our industry. It does not matter if you're a part-time dealer, collector or employed by one of the major numismatic firms, without a written plan, you are not being pro-active in managing risks against you and/or your business. "If it is not a written plan, your security plan is just an idea"! Remember; your plan is relevant and remains dynamic when it's updated, actively engaged (used) to keep pace annually with your business trends, travel schedule, or hobby pursuits. Plan to review and update your business's security plan in January!

2nd: NEVER, LEAVE VALABLES UNATTENDED IN YOUR VEHICLE.

This rule is so basic; yet, for over twenty years after emphasizing this simple, basic security measure, it is still ignored. Every other week, I get a report of a dealer or collector has had their collection and inventory stolen when it was left in an unoccupied vehicle. Occasionally, most of us have had to leave a vehicle unattended, while transporting valuables, consider yourself lucky...simply lucky! It only takes 15 seconds for a thief to gain entry into your locked vehicle. As predicted, several dealers or collectors were virtually wiped-out from theft and terminated their businesses, while some collectors relinquished the hobby altogether.

Why are these two simple security measures so difficult to grasp and yet seem so seldom followed? Ask the many victims of theft. Most will usually respond with "I can't believe this happened to me".

"Don't make a mistake which lessens your safety, security and life," stated Ellsworth.

The American Numismatic Association has been proactive for a number of years by offering security courses during their Colorado Springs, Summer Seminar Sessions. They have also co-sponsored seminars with the great job Doug Davis of Numismatic Crime Information Center is doing with Federal, State, County and Local law enforcement officers on how better to investigate numismatic crimes. This year's Summer Seminar will offer our first 2-evening security course "Safety First: Security for Dealers and Collectors" in addition to "The Business of Being a Coin Dealer". If you are planning to attend please sign up early as space is limited. If you have not made plans to attend, do so. These two courses are well worth your time and consideration regardless the size of your business. For more information on these courses contact: Amber Bradish, ANA Education Project Manager 719.482-9865, Email: abradish@money.org.

"All shows listed below were actually attended by our company or our representative. It is evident that some show-managers or promoters are taking the safety of their exhibitors and attendees more seriously; however, many still are not prosecuting shoplifters. Simply throwing a shoplifter out-of-a-show creates an incentive to repeat their crimes; as well as an example for other criminals to follow. Even though it's time-consuming and somewhat costly, dealers and bourse-chairs must accept the responsibility to prosecute an offender. On a final note; when performing security personnel briefings, remind security personal to refrain from casual viewing or surfing the internet from l-pads or cell phones when working; and, limit their use to only "must answer" calls. It is impossible for them to be texting and still be vigilant when it comes to security. Security is one of the top three expenses of running a show so insist on receiving what you have paid for. Go over what is expected before any agreement you make.

Below and in alphabetical order, are some of the shows attended in 2017, which placed security as a top priority, rather than a bi-product of the show. The objective in formulating an annual list is to help ensure security measures remain on the "forefront" to aid dealers and collectors in safely managing the risks posed from theft or criminal acts, which can result in loss, bodily harm or even death," commented Ellsworth.

- American Numismatic Association World's Fair of Money Show, Denver, CO.

Security was continually provided by plain clothes private security and uniformed Denver police. Security has continually improved each year. There was excellent security in and out of the facility during set up and breakdown. All security officers are tied into a monitored communication net. Registration and name tags were required for all attendees. The ANA staff and board continue to be proactive in to reduce crime and improve the safety of its members and staff and the entire hobby through their excellent educational and awareness programs. This organization has and deserves to be commended for their efforts to keep the security of exhibitors and attendees safe.

- Blue Ridge Numismatic Association, Dalton, GA.

Security is continual provided by off-duty uniformed Walker County Sheriffs, off duty GBI agents and private security. Security is provided in and out of the facility during set up and breakdown. Unloading and Loading is under watchful security personnel. Security personnel continually walk the show floor to discourage shoplifting. Registration and nametags are required for all attendees. They like many other shows have an officer in a marked patrol car near the show entrance.

• Colorado Springs Coin, Currency and Collectibles Show, Colorado Springs, CO.

Security is provided by a private security contractor with extensive military and civilian experience. Security is excellent in and out of the facility during set up and breakdown. Parking areas are also patrolled before, during and following the show. Registration and nametags are required for all attendees. The show is well attended by ANA summer Seminar Students who are required to display their credentials. The bourse chairman makes security a critical part of his event plan.

• Central Ohio Coin Club, Dublin, OH.

Security is provided by off-duty Dublin police officers. Security in the past assisted in making arrests, the booking and jailing show thieves. Registration and nametags were required for all attendees. Dealers are allowed to load and unload at the front doors of the facility. Again with all shows, collectors and dealers leaving a show need to immediately implement their own individual plan on their remaining travel to avoid theft.

• North Carolina Numismatic Association, Concord, NC.

Security is continual provided by off-duty uniformed County Deputy Sheriffs. Security is provided in and out of the facility during set up and breakdown. Unloading and Loading is under watchful security personnel. Security personnel continually walk the show floor to discourage shoplifting. Registration and nametags are required for all attendees. They also display a marked patrol car near the entrance.

NORTHEAST TARRANT COIN CLUB

NETCC DECEMBER MEETING - As soon as members arrived, they grabbed a plate and served themselves a great Christmas dinner. The meal was catered barbeque beef, sausage and turkey with all the fix- in's. Our tireless ladies prepared everything else behind the scenes. While over 90 people were served, there was plenty for teenagers to go back for seconds to fill their bottomless pits.

Volunteers also brought many tasty desserts and side dishes. The deviled eggs and other sides were consumed as soon as they were placed on the table. Then the cookies and brownies met their fate. Finally, someone cut the cakes and pies, and they quickly vanished. Everyone ended the meal somewhat slumped back in their chair from all the good food, but ready for the evening's activities.

Special thanks for all of those who helped set up, serve and clean up.

President Jesse Owens opened the meeting with 94 members and visitors present.

Jesse Owens announced that it is time to start gathering items for the April donation auction. The auction is a major source of funding for the Club. He also announced that we are a co-host of the ANA show in Irving March 8-10 and will need plenty of help.

Jack Gilbert, assisted by Russell Prinzinger, called the bingo game admirably. Nice prizes were given out not only for winners, but also for second and even third bingos. In games that have become a member favorite, each table competed against other folks at that table – twice; in all, with 30 winners claiming either a silver eagle or a snowman.

After about 15 games had been called (most with multiple winners), it was time for final game (blackout). Most members lacked only a number or two in completing the blackout, but one of new members Bob Sobel, won the grand prize, a 1/10th ounce gold coin.

In response to the Toys for Tots campaign conducted by the US Marine Corps, members loaded the table shown with new unwrapped gifts. The Marines are very appreciative of our members' generosity, and it is certain the toys will find good homes with needy kids. As always, Dave Werner volunteered to deliver the gifts to the Marine collection center.

JANUARY MEETING - President Jesse Owens opened the meeting on a cold wintry night with 53 hardy members and visitors present. Visitors recognized: Gil Hernandez, Zac and David Menerey.

New members: Drew and Gil Hernandez, David Menerey. The club also welcomed Chase Russell (William's younger brother and Jack Gilbert's grandson) as a new junior member.

Jesse recognized the Club officers and director for the coming year who were elected in November.

Jesse Owens announced that it is time to start gathering items for the April donation auction. The auction is a major source of funding for the Club. Donation items should be given to Kenny Smith or Russell Prinzinger.

Carl Stang reminded everyone that we are a co-host of the ANA show in Irving March 8-10; Carl is show chairman. Then Frank Hezmall encouraged members to volunteer as "ambassadors" who would help with everything from greeting, to setting up and tearing down. Our Club traditionally supplies a large proportion of volunteers. A sign up sheet was passed around.

Jack Gilbert and Cheryl Rybka spoke about the need for pages for this show. These would be youth between 13 and 19 to perform various duties for dealers on the bourse floor. We need eight pages per day, and experience tells us that these youth are rewarded handsomely by dealers. See Jack or Cheryl if you know of a youth that would be interested.

Lastly, the ANA also conducts grading classes (both currency and coins) in conjunction with its show. There is still room in these classes.

Starting next month, the Cowtown coin show will move from its Forest Hill location to White Settlement.

Findings: Richard Wallace displayed two albums of medals entitled "Great Men of Medicine"; these were very appealing items and reasonably inexpensive for what one gets. Bill Rogers displayed the new British Crown coin, consisting of .925 silver and gold-plated.

The Collectors Forum is restarting and will be held now on the fourth Tuesday of the month at the North Richland Library at 7:00pm.

Bill Proenza, one of our newer members, but long-time collector, gave the educational program. He relayed his experiences at the ANA's World's Fair of Money held last August in Denver. Not only did he attend the biggest national coin show, but also enrolled in the ANA course "Coin Conservation, Authentication and Grading". He described some of the techniques learned to detect counterfeits, as well as the extensive grading regimen the two-day course required. Two books are recommended: The Coin Collector's Survival Guide and ANA Grading Standards. His presentation was followed by a rather lengthy Q&A session.

The usual auction of 40 items, as well as the silent auction was conducted.

DISTRICT FOUR

CAPITOL CITY NOVEMBER MEETING - The November meeting brought a close to the club meeting at the Twin Oaks Branch Library as the move south has depreciated the number of members turning up for the meetings. The new location will find us further north in hopes to regain some of our membership. The club BBQ dinner will be at Poke-Joe's again with hopes that the cold weather will not rear its face like last year.

Elections were held with no change in the Treasurers or Secretary position, but Alan moved from Vice President to President and that left the V.P. job open, which is needs to be filled.

The program this month was a simple one whereby club members brought coins or paper money valued at $5 and then they were randomly swapped with other members. There was also an auction which brought out Books, coins and old checks.

There was no December meeting per se; instead the club members met up at a local BBQ joint for a dinner. However, the cold temps and snow made travel difficult and caused some people to not want to get out or those that did, took nearly 2 hours to get there. The food was good and the fellowship was warm.

The outgoing club officers each received a 2017 Silver Eagle for their service. There was also a special award for "Member Service" top the club. This was open to any member who gave a presentation or helped out at a club coin show or other public endeavor the club did. The prize was a 1878-S Morgan Dollar.

The following Saturday the club participated in an event at the library where the clubs that meet there can show off their club and activities. There were four members who made it out and had a display of coins and freebies for the kids.

DISTRICT FIVE

DALLAS NOVEMBER MEETING - The meeting was called to order by President Mike who began the meeting with an announcement of the most recent prices for gold and silver. ($1,278.00 Gold/ $17.09 Silver)

In attendance were 34 members and 4 guests. Linda C., Alex K., Marvin H. and Mary.

George informed the club of the passing of well known numismatist Eric P. Newman who died recently at the age of 106.

Hal reported nothing further has developed on the Dallas Historical Village exhibit and he's moving up the chain for approval.

OFFICER REPORTS: Mike asked for a show of hands for next month's Christmas party to determine attendance. Since there is usually a larger turn out at the party than a regular meeting he has discussed with the restaurant's owner about using the larger room if we need more space for the party.

Jose: Noted a lot of great articles on the NGC website and recent notable conditional rarities graded by NGC.

Show and Tell was shared by members with many interesting items on display. Door and raffle prizes were won by many happy winners.

PROGRAM: WWII Rationing Tokens. Office of Price Administration (OPA) by George M.

On January 8th, 1944 rationing started in the USA. There were two varieties (Red/Blue) and lots of letter combinations in the United States. (16 mm Tokens and the obverse/reverse are identical) and there were made of vulcanized fiber (a laminated plastic composed of only cellulose.) About 1.1 billion red and 900 million blue were produced. There are 54 two letter combinations. (24 blue/30 red) The meaning of the letter combinations can only be speculated. They may have been used to track geographically or to foil counterfeiters. They were used short term during the war and used 3-4 years at most. Reds are meant for meat/fats and blue for canned/processed foods. No tokens are dated. The MV red token is very scarce and WC, WH scarce in blue. The size was reduced from a quarter to a dime which made them very unpopular. Some people tried to substitute them for bus fare or vending machines which often caused the machines to jam.

Also they were very light, brittle and broke easily with metal contact. The cellulose became brittle at low temperatures and occasionally crumbled in the pocket. Supply didn't meet demand in some locations. Counterfeiters even cut them in half. After painting the blank side to match they often passed unnoticed. This doubled their redemption value. Every two weeks they were changed. Used for the duration of the war until 1946 and sugar rationing ended. In 1947 the OPA issued a recall and many were crushed. Some were then sent to Yugoslavia to use in Displaced Persons camps, making Yugoslavia a good source for collectors. Because of this some varieties are very rare and some quite common.

Germany started rationing in 1939. The UK started rationing the following year. In September of 1941 in Paris they started rationing even cigarettes, 4 per man, 0 for women. 1941 the USSR rationed food in the major cities.

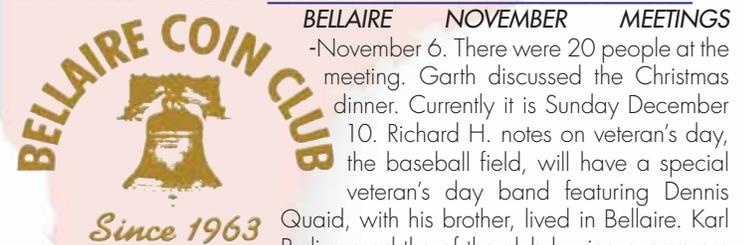

In the USA, there were different regional shortages. Rationing was lifted in the USA for most things by 1945 and sugar by 1947. Tokens were produced in smaller numbers compared to pennies. The program cost an estimated $30 Million and served a purpose preparing for food shortages during the war.

OPA token collecting is a small segment of the exonomia community and George has all but two very rare ones.

DECEMBER MEETING - Due to the fact that everybody was having a good time at the Christmas Party no notes were taken.

Stewart said the combined meetings with Collin County Coin Club may possibly resume next year. Possibly in February. Much depends on finding a good place that is somewhat centrally located.

GATEWAY COIN CLUB

GATEWAY NOVEMBER MEETINGS - Nov. 2 - The meeting was opened with three visitors and twenty-nine members in attendance, including all officers. Our visitors were Carolyn B. (mother of Matt and Luke B.), Margarita F. (wife of David F.), and Steve W. (husband of Debbie W.).

Under Old Business: An informative discussion was held about the "Coins, Collectibles, and Antiques" event scheduled for January 6th. The Numismatic Roundtable was led by LeRoy M. Several interesting items were show.

The "Ask the Expert" session was led by James W. who predicted that the United States will eventually become a cashless society. In 1933, we stopped producing gold coins for circulation. In 1964, we stopped minting silver coins for circulation. Consumer payments using credit and debit cards, as well as electronic transactions such as PayPal, have become the norm in many commercial businesses. James W. also discussed the classic US commemoratives issued after World War II. No commemorative coins were minted during World War II. Following the war, the mint struck commemorative coins strictly to be keepsakes or collectibles, not to be circulated.

The Raffle Winners were Leon W., Ray T., Robert J. (three times), Luke B., and Larry F.

The auction was conducted by David A. and Matt B., with the assistance of Frank G. and Luke B. Several items were donated by Mike G., Larry F., David A., Frank G., and Steve M. These donated lots were purchased by Larry F., Don P., Robert J., Steve W., Debbie W., Ed B., Luke B., Matt B., and Steve M. The sale of these donated lots raised a total of $60 for the club's treasury. GCC thanks the donors and the purchasers for their generosity.

Karla G. announced the details for the GCC Christmas Dinner on December 21st. GCC also held a raffle and numismatic auction.

The Numismatic Roundtable was led by LeRoy M. Several members were participants with very interesting items.

The "Ask the Expert" session was led by James W., who discussed the commemorative coins issued by the US Mint for the Sesquicentennial in 1926. The mint struck two coins: a silver half dollar and a quarter eagle (gold $2.50 piece). The coins featured both George Washington and Calvin Coolidge on the obverse. James W. also issued a warning about purchasing gold coins in APMEX packaging from unknown vendors. A coin recently sold to a pawn shop in an original APMEX holder turned out to be counterfeit. The counterfeiter used tungsten to duplicate the gold coin. Steve M. discussed an interesting article he read in Readers Digest about the 1933 US double eagle gold coins.

The Raffle Winners were Don P., Steve M., Andy G., James W. (two times), Robert J., and Andy C.

The Numismatic Educational Program was presented by Larry F., who discussed "The History of Military Coins of the World." Larry said that though he had been in the US Air Force for twenty-one years, he knew nothing about military coins until fifteen years after he retired. Military coins are primarily one of three types of coins: the unit coin, the recognition coin, and the challenge coin. Nearly every US military unit has a unit coin. The Rhode Island Ship Token of 1779 is thought to be the first unit coin. He gave a brief synopsis of each of the three coins and showed some of the coins from his collection. Thanks.

The auction was conducted by David A. and Matt B., with the assistance of Frank G. and Luke B. Several items were donated by Mike G., Frank G., Robert J., and Steve M. These donated lots were purchased by Larry F., Don P., Andy C., Robert J., Matt B., and Steve M.. The sale of these donated lots raised a total of $55.50 for the club's treasury. GREENBELT DECEMBER MEETING - The meeting was called to order by President Brian Sweitzer. Ten members and two visitors, Tom Robinson and Harlan Screws, were in attendance.

Announcements. Brian Sweitzer announced that longtime member, Bill Howard, will celebrate his 92nd birthday on December 5th. Jean said that she had talked with Ollie Garrett. He is doing better and hopes to be able to attend our club meetings in the near future. Connolly O'Brien announced that a coin show would be held at Sherman on January 5th and that the next Grapevine show will be held on Feb 2-4.

Old Business. Brian reminded everyone that our January meeting will be held on the second Monday at the Nursing Home. Rob Robinson reminded everyone that the Wichita Falls Coin Club Christmas party will be held at Luby's at 6PM on December 14. Everyone should bring a $10 wrapped gift for the Chinese gift exchange.

Program. Tony Zupkas told about King Richard II of England who had a very short rein. Some gold coins with his likeness were found recently near where he died in the 1480's. The coins may have belonged to some of King Richard's soldiers. Only a handful of the coins still exist from his 2-year rein. The coins were found using a metal detector at a depth of 16 inches in a farmer's field.

Drawings were held and Jean Sweitzer was the winner of the membership drawing – a BU 1982 George Washington half dollar. Raffle prize winners were Danny Walker - a 2017 Canada Maple Leaf; Rob Robinson - a 2002 Proof Set; Jean Sweitzer - a 1991 Mint Set; Jean Sweitzer - a 1983 Proof Set; and James Bradley - a 1983 Proof Set.

He passed around the results which indicated that the club lost $381.00. Jeff Hogue has been trying to reserve a place at Luby's on the second Thursday in December for the Coin Club's Christmas Party.

Program: Rob Robinson talked about Penny Boards. Today, there are Whitman and Dansco Albums as well as the Whitman foldout albums. It all started in the early 1930's when J.K. Post of Wisconsin came up with the idea of printing Penny Boards for collecting coins. Wayte Raymond put out the earliest coin book beginning in 1935. It cost about $2.50, which was quite expensive at the time. Post worked with Whitman Publishing Company that produced children's puzzles and had the technology to cut out penny boards which were sold for 25 cents. Post sold the concept to Whitman Publishing Company in 1939. Rob said that Whitman converted the penny board into the more familiar three folds version beginning in the early 1940s.

HISTORICAL FACTS

The images and information came from Heritage Auctions.

Amazing Presentation strike 1795 Draped Bust dollar.

The 1795 B-14, BB-51 dollar with an off-center Draped Bust represents the first appearance of the new Draped Bust obverse design. The Small Eagle reverse also made its first appearance here. The circumstances surrounding the coin's issuance are subject to a certain amount of speculation. The designer and engraver remain unidentified, the exact timing of the Mint's transition from the Flowing Hair design to the Draped Bust type is uncertain, and the actual mintage of the new design is a further unknown variable relating to the production of 1795 Draped Bust dollars.

Much speculation about the designer of this coin type has appeared in print over several decades. The 19th century Mint Director James Ross Snowden wrote in 1861 that Gilbert Stuart designed the Draped Bust obverse, information that he received from "a relation of the family." Conflicting evidence exists in the form of a September 9, 1795 payment of $30 to John Eckstein for "two models for dollars." While we don't know the specifics of those models, the timing is right for obverse and reverse models for the Draped Bust, Small Eagle dollars. William Nyberg argues Chief Engraver Robert Scot was a far more likely source of the Draped Bust design. There is no contemporary evidence to support Gilbert Stuart's involvement, while Scot had extensive experience in drapery designs from his time preparing engravings for Dobson's 1792 Encyclopedia. In Robert Scot, Engraving Liberty, Nyberg writes (pp. 123-4): "The iconic Draped Bust designs were allegorical representations that were 'emblematic of liberty,' as required by law in the Coinage Act of 1792, and were designed and engraved by the person commissioned specifically for that purpose, Robert Scot."

Silver dollars were delivered from the Coiner to the Mint Treasurer on August 29, 31, September 1, and 12, and again on September 24. While there are no existing Mint records that discuss the design change, the September 24 or October 3 deliveries are likely. Researcher R.V.V. Julian suggests a mintage of 78,238 Draped Bust silver dollars, the total of deliveries in the fourth quarter of 1795, from October 3 through the final delivery of the year on October 24. Although we don't know if examples were struck in 1796, Julian's mintage figure is probably accurate. The actual number may have been smaller as only two die pairs are identified.

There are several prooflike Mint State 1795 Draped Bust silver dollars known, but the coin, while not the highest graded example, clearly has a special look, as evidenced by the Specimen-62 grade assigned by NGC. It features full strike definition throughout, including Liberty's curls and the eagle's breast, wing, and leg feathers. Both sides are fully mirrored with silvery, steel-gray color and splashes of pale lavender. A few light striations appear over the central obverse, and tiny ticks limit the technical grade. Still, this amazing specimen is nearly in a class of its own, and was made with care, lacking any adjustment marks on the obverse or reverse.

The finest certified 1879 Schoolgirl Dollar in silver

The "Schoolgirl" dollar is George T. Morgan's masterpiece. The design of Liberty faces left, with E PLURIBUS at the left rim, seven stars above, UNUM at the right rim, four more stars, the date 1879, and finally two more stars before we come back around from whence we began. Liberty's hair is combed back and tied with a ribbon behind her head. A hairband is inscribed LIBERTY, and a string of pearls encircles her neck, as her flowing locks cascade down her shoulder. The reverse features a defiant eagle, seemingly about to take flight, facing left on a rectangular perch with IN GOD WE TRUST. An olive sprig is in the left field, with three arrows in the right field. UNITED STATES OF AMERICA and ONE DOLLAR are at the rims, separated by periods.

This is the finest certified 1879 Schoolgirl dollar, graded PR66 Deep Cameo by PCGS. This coin is struck in silver with a reeded edge. Saul Teichman has traced only 15 examples of the Schoolgirl dollar in silver, and the complete roster is listed on USPatterns.com. This is his #9 example, pieces that are listed in no particular grade order. Of the 15 known pieces, four are impounded in museums (two are in the Smithsonian, one is in the ANS, and the ANA Museum has the DiBello-Bass coin). Many of the known examples have been cleaned. Those two factors drastically reduce the number of collectible Schoolgirl dollars.

This is a deeply mirrored example with strikingly frosted devices, the combination of which produces a strong (or Deep) Cameo effect. Most of each side is brilliant with a noticeable ring of deep golden toning around the margin on each side. This is the highest-graded and only graded Deep Cameo example certified by PCGS and nothing comparable has been graded by NGC, making this the finest example certified by either of the major services. A lifetime (or two) may pass before the opportunity occurs again to purchase this finest known Schoolgirl dollar.

TNA MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION

This association is a non-profit, educational and scientific organization founded in January 1960. It is purely a mutual association founded for the benefit of its members.

The TNA invites to membership all worthy persons who are at least nine years of age. Coin clubs, schools, libraries, museums and kindred organizations who have a sincere interest in the collecting and study of coins, paper money, tokens, medals and related items are welcome.

PURPOSES

To promote and advance interest and comprehensive knowledge of numismatics; to cultivate friendly relations among fellow collectors; to hold periodic meetings and exhibits; to provide a place and time to buy, sell and trade numismatic items; to serve its members collectively, not individually.

ADVANTAGES

To be a member is to have fraternal affiliation with numismatics of your state; to know their addresses and collecting interests; to have the honor of serving visitors with the names of collectors in their vicinity; to participate in the annual convention; to receive the official publication. TNA membership offers prestige on the state level just as ANA offers prestige on the national and international levels.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION

Each Regular, Junior, Life and Chapter member receives the TNA News for no additional cost. Insofar as possible, this media will keep you informed about your association, and the individual and chapter members. It carries timely articles and features. Its pages are free to all members to express their views and to contribute articles for the advancement of numismatics. Those seeking information may ask for help through the pages of the TNA News. Those having items for sale or trade may advertise for a nominal sum. The TNA News is the voice of the TNA.

CONVENTIONS

The TNA will meet in an annual convention. Members are entitled to a voice at the conventions. The business sessions are devoted to the procedures necessary to the operation of your state association. Entertainment and time for renewal of friendships is an important part of the conventions. Educational exhibits are a vital adjunct. The opportunity to buy, sell and trade is provided through bourse activity.

MEMBERSHIP

Regular members are at least 18 years of age. Associate members are at least 18 and a member of the immediate family of a regular member. Junior members are under 18 years of age. Chapter members are those organizations as listed on the previous page.

APPLICATION

Applicants for membership must be proposed for membership by a TNA member who signs the application form together with an additional person know as a voucher. A voucher for an applicant for regular membership should be an adult of reputable character who knows the applicant. A voucher for an applicant for junior membership must be a parent or guardian of the applicant. Applicants for chapter membership should be signed by the president. Such other information as required on the application should be given.

Chapter membership applicants should furnish the additional information;

1. Names and addresses of officers
2. Name and address of TNA representative
3. Mailing address
4. Meeting date, time and place.

APPLICANTS

Names of applicants are published in the TNA News. If no objections are received within 20 days after the date of publication, the applicant is admitted to membership. A membership card is sent with notification of admission. The official publication will be mailed to eligible applicants.
